ARCHITECTURAL INSPIRATION

Echoing the Golden Square Mile's historic prestige, Le Sherbrooke juxtaposes the traditional and the contemporary; curtain walls and moulded concrete are articulated with granite, and Beauval limestone quarried in the Bourgogne region of France. The project's subtle ornamentation is inspired by the Art Nouveau movement popular at the turn of the 20th century – the same era of Sherbrooke Street's rise to prominence. Le Sherbrooke's architecture evokes both Montreal's rich history as well as its reputation as a cosmopolitan, forward-moving, international city.

GOLDEN SQUARE MILE: MONTREAL'S MOST PRESTIGIOUS NEIGHBOURHOOD

- Eminence and Enduring Beauty. The Golden Square Mile was home to the nation's foremost leaders, founding barons, and magnates. Montreal's storied jewel, this neighbourhood is punctuated by grand mansions, greystones, and historical buildings.
- An Affluence of Art and Culture. Located in Montreal's epicenter of art & culture, Le Sherbrooke is just a stone's throw from Montreal's Museum of Fine Arts, the Canadian Centre for Architecture, and the McCord Museum, to name just a few.
- Access and Proximity. Boutiques, cafés, restaurants, shopping, events... The living is easy in the Golden Square Mile. Whether you rise early for a morning jog up Mount-Royal or enjoy a private yoga class on the rooftop at sunset, nature is always close by. All convenient services, including the city's top healthcare centres, are also within walking distance.
